UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO
FACULTY OF NURSING

We start with a thought, a notion
We dream, we grow, and we plan
We create, and put into motion
A will to help our fellow man.

We gather all we need to know
We learn the gift of giving
Then travel outward, promoting life
. . . the joy and hope of living.

J.M.

OUR DEAN

I am pleased to be part of this year's publication of the Yearbook for it provides me with the opportunity to salute the Class of '82 in a formal and lasting fashion. In so doing, all members of the Faculty of Nursing join me in offering congratulations to each of you for your achievements. You have influenced the life of this Faculty and University in multiple and varied ways, many of which are captured in the pages of this and other editions of the Yearbook.

Graduation, of course, marks the end of one stage of your life and the threshold of a new stage. You make your entrance on that new stage equipped with the potential for bringing comfort, enrichment and growth to your chosen world. The challenge is now yours to continue the pursuit of excellence in whatever your undertaking. And may many joys and satisfactions come to you.

Phyllis E. Jones
Dean

AND OUR UNDERGRADUATE CHAIRMAN

I am delighted to have this opportunity to extend greetings and very warm wishes to the 1982 graduating class and to all the students in the Faculty in this 1981-82 edition of the Yearbook.

I know that I speak for all the faculty in wishing our 1982 Graduates well as they enter the working world of the Profession. To say that we are proud of you is said sincerely and is a reflection of our confidence in your ability to provide a high quality of care to all your clients wherever you may practice. We believe that you have completed a programme that has prepared you well for our challenging and ambiguous world. Four years of theories, principles, facts and conceptual frameworks (dare I mention this word!) bound together with critical thinking, competence, sound judgment and commitment will stand you in good stead.

The two days of the four years which have most meaning for me are Registration Day of Year I and Convocation Day of Year IV as I see the same expression of anticipation for the future in the faces of young people embarking on a new phase of their lives. It is a privilege to be part of the years in between these two days and our rewards are many.

To those of you in the in between years we wish you well and remind you that "Your Day Will Come."

Good luck to you all
Anna Jean Rouse

SHINERAMA '81

As I am writing this message, the final total for Shinerama 1981 is not tallied, but it is more than 1980's total of $7,000. My goal as director was to increase the total of the two years, but in doing that, the number of shiners decreased!

For the first time we had a Shinerama warmup rally on September 18. The Bed race down St. George Street gathered crowds of students, television crew, and engineering alumnus, Paul Godfrey.

My personal thanks to the nurses (who outnumbered the engineers), who braved the cool, dull weather to help C.F. children. The best part of Shinerama (beside the pub), is the satisfaction of knowing we as members of a health profession care about the future of C.F. children. The Canadian Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is very appreciative of our efforts, so please continue to "help give a child the breath of life."

Keep shinin'

HUMBER

Graduation: just the beginning

But how will you feel about your profession ten years from now? The work may seem as rewarding and worthwhile then as it does now, but if you're like most nurses, you'll also be looking for more challenge, more responsibility.

Career growth is possible when you make the right job choices along the way.

Outstanding learning opportunities, including education right at the bedside, are available at Humber Memorial, a community hospital in northwest metropolitan Toronto with full services for diagnosis, treatment, and rehabilitation.

Humber Memorial Hospital: a good place for patients, a good place for nurses.
A good place for you.

BLOOD DONOR CLINICS

This year there were two blood donor clinics held at U of T. In November, the nurses' enthusiasm was demonstrated by a turnout of 76 donors. However, this number dropped in January to 32. Was everyone hoarding their blood?! The class of 1983 (third year students) was awarded the trophy for having the highest percentage of donors of all the classes. Congratulations to all those third year students who were able to donate. An apathy award, or an award for having donated the least amount of blood, should go to the class of 1982. Those fourth year students were probably anemic from their hard work on term papers and clinical duty!

Thank you to all who took the time to donate a pint of blood. To everyone else, there is always next year!

I would like to thank each and every one of the Student's Council 81-82 for their participation and enthusiasm this year. I feel it was a very successful year, which included everything from great pubs, the traditional wine and cheese party, an informative nursing careers fair, and two very interesting issues of the "Pulse." As well, Student's Council arranged for vending machines to be installed in the lounge and started fund raising for the library to replace lost journals and buy some new texts. A very fun filled Spirit Week was held from February 1 to February 6.

Student's Council is an ever changing body, always faced with different problems each year - but, the basic element remains the same - it means being involved! It provides a new and different perspective on campus life, and it exists for the benefit of Students. I would encourage each one of you to get involved in some way, no matter how small. I am sure you will find that it provides a means for you to express your opinions and change things here at the U. of T.

To the Graduates - WE MADE IT! We survived four years of 5:00 a.m. mornings, clinical assignments, APA format, not to mention hours and hours of hard work. We shared many common experiences - some positive ones and some negative ones, but I feel that we are a unique class. We fought hard for what we believed in and tried to change the system to better accommodate years behind us.

I would like to wish everyone the very best of luck in whatever you decide to do. I hope that you remember U. of T. Faculty of Nursing, with as fond memories as I will.

The Social Committee has been very busy this past year, planning and hosting a variety of great events. The widely acclaimed "Nursing Pub" was held on several occasions over the season. The Shinerama Pub as well as the other three pubs provided many "wild and crazy" experiences for all involved. Funds raised from these events are used to support the Student Council and provide donations for Charitable Institutions.

The annual Wine and Cheese Party held on October 14th and the Nursing Formal, affectionately known as "Nightcap '82," held at the Sutton Place Hotel on March 6th were both a great success.

A special thanks must be given to Ann Ashby, my assistant, who has worked tirelessly helping to arrange the events. Thanks also is due to the variety of individuals who worked at the pubs and provided support.

This has been a successful year and I have enjoyed being Social Director.

Nursing sports functioned well this year with a team entered in almost every sport offered by the intramural department. Our competitive basketball team managed to complete the season with a win to our credit. Here's hoping all competitors will grow a few inches over the summer. Thursday night volleyball was enthusiastically supported by the nursing students. The broomball tournament was a great success. All coaches and managers should be thanked for their help and patience in running our teams. Everyone should be proud of the nurses who helped bring recognition to the Nursing Faculty in athletics. Although we participated, we need everyone's support so why don't you come out next year and see what intramurals are all about. NO TALENT NECESSARY. ONLY A SENSE OF HUMOUR AND A DESIRE TO HAVE SOME FUN!!

EDUCATION DIRECTOR

MIKE VILLENEUVE

This year, it has been a pleasure to serve on the student's council. As members of the council, we attempted to relieve some of the anxieties and problems of being a student, by sponsoring various activities for many interests.

The education committee organized Careers Day '82, offering all students the chance to discuss nursing careers with representatives from several fields of nursing. This type of activity, as well as others sponsored by the committee, such as TV listings, orientation manual were designed to provide additional educational activities for the students and faculty. Other outside events, such as the CUNSA conferences, and the RNAO meetings provide further enlightenment. As the role of the education director becomes more refined, and information is accumulated over the years, hopefully even more fulfilling and interesting activities will be offered. We hope to eventually have an extensive library of educational and career information which would be available to each student, within the faculty. This, of course, will require time, and your assistance.

Once again, many thanks for this opportunity. I wish the graduating class the very best of luck as they leave us. The challenges are many, and the demands are large in this field - I hope that each of them, the rewards will be rich.

SENIOR C.U.N.S.A. REPRESENTATIVE

KATHY DUVNJAK

This year, as Senior C.U.N.S.A. Representative, I focused much of my attention at increasing the student body's awareness of C.U.N.S.A. and its functions. Contrary to what most believe, C.U.N.S.A. is more than an annual conference. It is a professional association of which, YOU as a student are a part of. Annie Simmonds, the national chairperson for 81-82 wrote in the C.U.N.S.A. winter newsletter, "C.U.N.S.A. has A LOT to offer - whether you would like to be involved in research, or in establishing communication with nursing students, or in expressing a concern in nursing . . . C.U.N.S.A. can help you pursue these interests and more."

In involving students this year, the following were pursued:

1. Fundraising activities such as selling coffee, donuts and buttons, holding a swimathon/jogathon, as well as organizing a Bake Sale with the yearbook staff during Spirit Week.
2. Circulating to the staff and students of U. of T., the National Research Project of 80-81.
3. Encouraging students to write articles for the C.U.N.S.A. Newsletter.
4. Attending the regional and national conferences.

In summary, I would like to thank all those participating in C.U.N.S.A. this year, and especially the delegates attending the national conference. I would also like to express my feelings of enjoyment and excitement as being Senior C.U.N.S.A. Rep. It was definitely a rewarding and enriching experience!

Kathy Duvnjak

S.H.O.U.T. REPRESENTATIVE

KAREN LIFE

There is more to University than reading books and writing essays. At least that is what a whole group of U of T nursing students learned this year while doing volunteer work for S.H.O.U.T. S.H.O.U.T. stands for Student Health Organization of the University of Toronto. This year for the first time we worked at two centres: The Niagara and Alexandra Park Community Clinics.

Most of us worked during the evening. Usually putting in a couple of hours every other week. Our work involved history taking, physical and psychological assessment and collaborating with the staff to plan interventions. It was a chance to practice clinical skills, learn more about community nursing, and to work independently with clients. For a short time each week we became an integral part of the health team.

Not only were the two clinics used by student volunteers but they were also utilized by fourth year students during their clinical rotation. It is for these two programs that the Nursing Student Council supports S.H.O.U.T. financially and has a S.H.O.U.T. representative on council.

I, and all the nursing students who worked for S.H.O.U.T. this year, take with us fond memories of the staff and clients at the clinics that made this program such a worthwhile experience. From the week old babies to the ninety year old senior citizens, we care for them all. Their gratitude is worth more to us than any University grade. That's why we're in nursing.

CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

Roxanne Lloyd

Nurses Christian Fellowship (N.C.F.), seeks to better prepare nurses to assist people spiritually, psychosocially and physically as they face crises. The concern of N.C.F. is to help people in providing quality nursing care which includes the spiritual dimension and reflects Jesus Christ. In order to do this, Bible study groups and special events, such as films, barbeques, sports, speakers are organized.

SPIRIT WEEK

Spirit Week this year went from February 1st through 6th. Among the events was a hot dog sale sponsored by the Grad Committee, and a bake sale sponsored by both the Yearbook Committee and the C.U.N.S.A. Committee. Of course, the only way to top off this fun filled week . . . was with a pub!

Mmmm! One of our favorite pastimes . . .

YEAR III

OPEN HOUSE

This spring, students, alumni and friends, had an opportunity to attend the Faculty's "Open House." Various research papers and self-directed learning projects, submitted by third year students, were on display. The papers and projects, ranging from teaching classes to designing children books, demonstrated a great deal of effort and creativity. The students had obviously put a lot of hard work into their designs, and have shown that U. of T. nurses are concerned about the quality of care that they give their patients. Bravo!

"NOW, LET'S REVIEW THE Z-SCORE"

SPECIAL EVENTS

CAREERS DAY 1982

The education committee organized Careers Day '82, offering all students the chance to discuss the nursing careers with representatives from several fields of nursing. The afternoon provided some 'reality orientation' to the students, as the various employers explained realistically the duties of the new graduate. The exhibitors returned to their facilities with a sense of what U of T nursing is all about; they were impressed with the caring and enthusiasm brought to the course by the students.

DEDICATION

1981 is the International Year of Disabled Persons. Although this year saw the launching of many projects and some very successfully completed, the real achievement may have been in increasing public awareness regarding the concerns of the disabled and our attitudes toward them. Our society poses many overwhelming problems for the disabled and although removing the many physical barriers promotes their more effective functioning in our communities, our attitudes and standards for the disabled person also pose a problem. How often do we judge their behavior in terms of what an able-bodied person may achieve? Publicity frequently centres around the successful disabled athlete or the paraplegic who runs a profitable business operation for example. Yet as nurses with an orientation toward the holistic and unique nature of each individual, we are failing if we succumb to these standards of judgement. Only by setting and acknowledging goals for the disabled that are attainable and self-set, do we respect their humanity. And as persons, only by recognizing both our and their weaknesses AND strengths, do we discover the true meaning of disabled: because to be disabled, is to be human.

Patricia Morris

Cogitations of a Cripple

I envy not those active men who shun both rest and peace
Fighting the battle for success, seeking their golden fleece.
Early up then traffic bound to reach their place of toil,
There's no release lest someone else picks up the victor's spoil.

Late at night their desk lamps glow until the quota's made,
Then up to spend another day on the treadmill of their trade.
This goes on from year to year as up the steps they wind,
To reach the goal ambition set, but still no peace of mind.

As power, status, wealth increase, the goal moves ever higher;
They sacrifice serenity on the altar of desire.
When will it stop this urge of man for fortune and for fame;
Not until all values change and contentment is the aim.

Early on I joined the race and struggled with the rest
Scaled the ladder halfway up, saw promise of the crest.
But fate decreed "it shall not be" a stroke cut short my quest.
Looking back throughout the years, did I pass the test?

At first consumed by jealousy, I cried Oh God why me? why me?
But as the months sped swiftly by, I gained His gift tranquility.
Yes, I would use the wealth they earn with their effort and their strife,
But better still are gems I glean from a sedentary life:

I hobble to my garden plot
Or just a single flower plot,
I have the time to watch them grow,
A pleasure some men never know.
I see a bud unfurl at dawn,
Smell the clover in the lawn,
A bee jets by to kiss a rose,
Squirrels play where the lily grows.
A bird trills out to greet the sun,
Its melody for everyone.
Imprisoned in my garden chair,
I see God's beauty everywhere.

To me all books fine treasures are,
In books I travel near and far;
I turn a page of history,
Begin a modern Odyssey.
I always have the finest guides
That each year of time provides.
With Hemming way I visit Spain,
With Michener return again.
Shakespeare and Dickens olde England show,
With Haley and Lerby down South I go.
A journey in books brings great reward,
The cost, a simple library card.

Music is another jewel,
We have it trapped on disc and spool.
Records, radio and TV,
Combined with new technology
Turn all the world into our stage,
Fortunate are we this day and age.
As though possessed with celestial power,
I raise the dead for a concert hour;
Crosby, Lombardo, Nat King Cole,
Each in turn performs his role.
Many stars take curtain call,
In this, my private music hall.

So covet not your neighbour's life, it may be an illusion,
Count solid gains you've made instead, shatter all delusion.
For gains you've made, though these be small, others envy you,
If you trade lots with someone else, you take his burdens too.

CUNSA CONFERENCE 1982

In reviewing the special events during the past year, it would be impossible not to mention the Annual National CUNSA Conference. This year's conference was held in Ontario's "Steel City" - Hamilton. Needless to say, the close proximity allowed for the attendance of a large contingent from the U of T.

The theme of the conference this year was "Males in a female-dominated profession." Judging by the ratio of males to females at the conference, this topic appears to be a relevant one. However, many of the delegates did not feel this to be an issue. They believe that as the image of the profession changes, so will the complexion of its members. There appeared to be a unanimous view among the delegates and the speakers that men definitely have something to offer nursing . . . and nursing has something to offer men.

The speakers held varying viewpoints regarding nursing as a profession in the past and future. Judging by our experience here, it might also be said that they held varying degrees of interest for the delegates!! (ZZZzzzz) One enthusiastic guest attempted to revitalize that interest. (Frankly, it was more an attempt to wake people up after the social activities of the night before!). Whatever the motivations, the results were the same: flushed faces, sweaty bodies and heavy greathering. Yes - it was "dancercize!" What a way to wake up!

Despite the difference of opinion regarding the conference topic, everyone came away with a little more knowledge. At the very least, they came away with new perspectives to think about. However, the most important gain from this experience is not academic in nature. Rather, it is the sharing of feelings, views and concerns with other students from across Canada and the friendships that ultimately ensue. It is the feeling of belonging to a group . . . a profession.

The bar is closing on the last evening of the conference. The music cries out repeatedly, "We are family . . .," and every one interlocked in the dance circle thinks of the "family reunion" next year in Montreal.

Celebrating!

"Dancercize!"

Sing-a-long with Mike!

THE FORMAL . . .

This year's formal was held at the Sutton Place Hotel on March 6, 1982. We again had the pleasure of being entertained by the Toronto Harbor Band who have played for our past three formals, much to our enjoyment musically and financially(!).

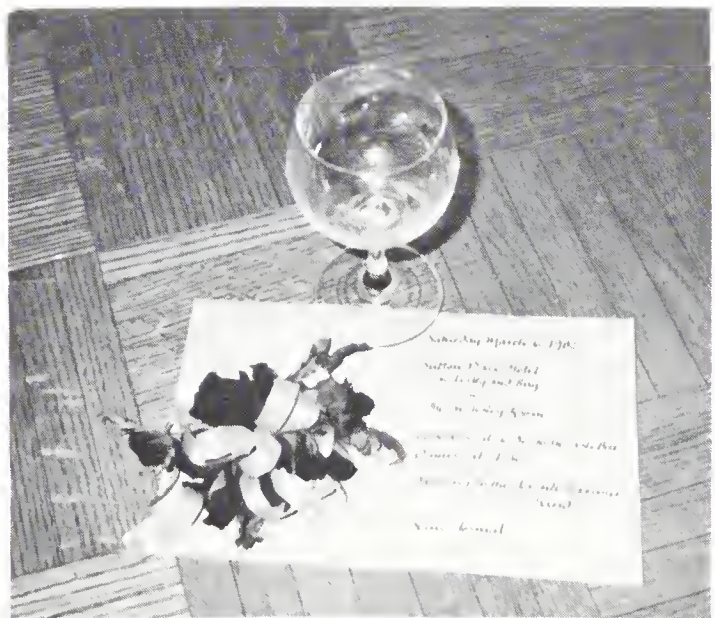

The dinner was noted as the best ever and the service provided by the hotel was equally superb. Everyone appeared to enjoy themselves as the consistently packed dance floor indicated, and the bartenders were kept busy all night.

The crowd was fairly evenly dispersed between all four years, and it was great to see large groups of first and fourth year students in attendance.

In short, the formal was a huge success enjoyed by all and I thank everyone who attended and hope next year's is as much fun!

... NIGHTCAP '82

Butter can be made purely and simply.

- Start with milk.
- Separate the cream from the milk.
- Churn to separate the butter from the buttermilk.
- Add salt for flavour. (Not, of course, in unsalted butter).
- Butter, an excellent dietary source of vitamin A, is naturally golden yellow. If cows are not feeding on pasture (e.g. in winter), natural colouring may be added.

All brands of butter are made the same way. The exception is "cultured butter" which has a unique flavour created by the addition of a culture to the cream.

Imitations can't.

- Start with corn, soya beans, sunflower seeds, vegetables. Most Canadian margarines are made from vegetable oils. However, it is also permissible and possible to make margarine from fish oils, from lard and from tallow.
- Extract the oil from the vegetable or other base substance. Then bleach and deodorize the oil to remove its original odour and colour.
- Hydrogenate or interesterify to solidify the oil.
- Add an emulsifier to the oil.
- Add vitamins A and D.
- Add flavour and colour to imitate butter.
- Add water, skim milk or whey solids and salt. (There is, of course, no salt in unsalted margarine).
- Add a preservative which may be an antibacterial agent or an antioxidant.

In the manufacture of margarine, the basic oil, the quantities of some ingredients — even the process used — may vary from brand to brand and additional ingredients may be required.

Naturally, the choice is up to you.

THE GRAD COMMITTEE

The 1981-82 Grad Committee has enthusiastically and energetically planned and implemented fund raising strategies in order to raise money for the celebration at their termination; one that they will never forget. Meetings, announcements, phone calls and organizing became a part of this committee members' busy schedules.

We have sold delicious chocolate covered almonds, class rucker shirts, catchy sloggane buttons, raffled off an afghan, had a successful and profitable pub at U.C. and served a great hot lunch of hot dogs during Spirit Week. After all of these we are still in the process of making decisions regarding the gala event planned for May 28, 1982, to be held at Fantasy Farms.

We have appreciated everyones' support in making this a memorable finale to four years of academic achievement.

GRADUATION TEA

The Grad Tea was held for the class of '82 by the Nursing Alumni at the Faculty Club on May 18, 1982. Awards were presented in this party:

The Frances Jeckell Crozier Memorial Prize is awarded annually by the Basic Degree Class of 1963 to remember and perpetuate the spirit of their classmate who died of cancer in October 1977.

The award winner must display the following qualities: involvement in the Faculty, involvement in the University and community, enthusiasm and maturity and scholastic competence. This year the recipient is Mary J. McAllister (right).

The Student Council Honour Awards are presented to students who have demonstrated outstanding contribution to the Faculty, to the University, and scholastic competence. The recipients are:

Mary Gretspan
Jean Kirkpatrick
Marianne Mann
Mary McAllister
Sherry Pajari
Anne Sloan

Anne Higgins
Janet Legge
Heather Marshall
Patricia Morris
Marianne Slade

To entertain this special night, a skit was presented by the Grad Committee.

THE GRADUATION FORMAL

The Graduation Committee's hard work throughout the year all seemed worthwhile when on May 28, 1982, the Fantasy Farm Make-Believe Ballroom came alive, with nursing princesses (and prince!) and their dates celebrating their graduation.

Professor I. McRae

The representative of the Faculty chosen by the class to speak was Prof. I. McRae.

Susan Pearen

The Valedictorians chosen by the class of '82 were Susan Pearen, for the Basic class and Susan Hall for the Post-Basic class. Both highlighted the memories of our time spent at the U. of T.

Jean Kirkpatrick
Grad Chairman

Mike Villeneuve enhanced the dinner hour atmosphere by his piano playing and Anne Higgins displayed her musical excellence by singing "Memories" as all graduates reflected upon the past four years.

You and Northern Ontario have a lot to offer each other.

Throughout the North today, there are many hospitals and clinics with all the modern facilities and equipment that once were found only in large urban hospitals.

As a result, the North offers many challenging and rewarding opportunities for physicians, skilled nurses and qualified hospital, clinical and laboratory technical staff.

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

Despite my several pledges to individual classes to participate, there were still only a handful of students willing to assist in the preparation of the yearbook. Perhaps this general lethargy is due largely to the fact that the importance of the yearbook is seldom appreciated until it has achieved its final form and has been distributed.

The nature of a yearbook is to serve as a permanent reminder of the days when we were young; the good times, the work and the fun that fill our year in nursing. Although there may be little need or desire for this reminder until later, as a year is not missed until it is gone, it is then that the yearbook assumes its value as an irreplaceable souvenir.

I have enjoyed and learned from this editorship where so much devotion and responsibilities are involved.

I like to thank many people for helping to create our "Chrysalis 82" especially to my faithful staff who have been working diligently and imaginatively throughout the year. Roxanne, thank you for giving me inspiration and the "never-minded" attitude to all panic. Lori, if it was not for you, the grads section would not have been that creative and organized. Bettina, a grateful thank you for your job as our yearbook photographer and my acting defender. I can always depend on you in "messy" verbal situation. Pat, thank you for your meticulous layouts, I bet by now you can do them with your eyes closed! Gabriella and Victoria, thank you so much for sticking at it. Oh, yes, the anonymous Tom, thank you for having "guts" to volunteer to do layout - I hope you did not regret! Lastly, I like to thank everyone who helped in any way to create this yearbook.

My best wishes to all of you. I wish the graduates success in their future endeavours and hope that each one will achieve his or her desired career dreams. I hope that when you look back on this book in years to come, treasured memories will be revived once more. To the undergrads, our times will come before long especially if you learn to balance work and play together by getting involved next year.
